The Court: The U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims provides veterans with an impartial judicial forum for reviewing VA administrative decisions that are adverse to the veteran's claim for service-connected disability benefits. The Court's website is at www.uscourts.cavc.gov. The General Counsel provides legal advice to the Court, its nine judges, the Clerk, Court managers and staff.

The Legal Researcher position: The Legal Researcher works directly with two attorneys- the General Counsel, and the Deputy General Counsel. The Legal Researcher also interacts with other Court managers, judges and judges' law clerks.

The issues that the Legal Researcher handles are diverse, potentially covering all aspects of Court operations. (However, the General Counsel's office does not handle the veterans disability claims being appealed to the Court.) Typical areas of concentration include:

- 2) disciplinary matters concerning members of the Court's bar;
- 3) internal personnel matters, covering a range of employment law questions;
- 4) budget, appropriations, & procurement questions including outside vendor contracts; &
- 5) interpreting and applying the Court's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

Job applications will consist of a cover letter and resume. Submit your application to: Cary Sklar at csklar@uscourts.cavc.gov. If you are selected for an interview, please bring your law school transcript (an unofficial copy is acceptable) and a writing sample.
